Dear Mr. Falkin,

As I have stated before to you on the phone, A.M.F. Drum Co. was only a purveyor of reconditioned and raw drums for Metro Container. There was no sale of drums to Metro Container; we only purchased drums from them and did their hauling. We adhered to all rules and regulations governing the proper disposal of drums.

We are a very small company and have no funds for any of their clean up.

Respectfully,

Al Westfall

1. A.M.F. Drum Co., from July 1985 to Dec. 1987 was the sole transporter of Reconditioned drums and dirty drums to and from Metro Container under a contractual agreement.
2. To my knowledge we had 5 drivers transporting. The amount of drums to Metro that were dirty is beyond me.
3. To my knowledge no Hazardous container or toxic container were ever picked by by my drivers.
4. As for example; I would say we picked up and delivered 100,000 drums just to Mobil alone a year. I didn't know exact numbers, you would have to check all Metro's back bills to be sure.

Sincerely,

Al Westfall
Pres. A.M.F.
